I am writing to object to the fact that the area of clanfield is still being suggested as a possible place for sand and gravel quarrying. We have humpback bridges on all our exit roads except the Aston road and that is very narrow and bendy and it would be quite impossible for a lot of lorries to come through the village. I thought this was all sorted out a couple of years ago and it is very distressing to have it still in contention.

Yours sincerely – Susan Buchan
