Policy M3 (para 4.45) identifies specific provision for principal location for aggregate working in the region. Within such policy provision, it is recognised that the 'Thames, Lower Windrush and Lower Evenlode Valleys area from Standlake to Yarnton' features as a strategic resource area for winning/working sharp sand and gravel.

Specifically, the extent of this strategic resource area features within Figure 9 on page 62 of the draft Core Strategy document.

The broader strategic area identified includes for land and mineral owned by both Blenheim Estate and TD Henman Esq.

It is confirmed on behalf of both landowners that their freehold interests within the 'Thames, Lower Windrush and Lower Evenlode Valleys area from Standlake to Yarnton' strategic resource area remains available to feature within the emerging planning policy. The owners also remain supportive in principle of mineral working taking place upon their respective landholdings.

Landowner support in such regard serves to assist in demonstrating 'Deliverability' which serves to accord with a key overarching principle of NPPF.
